↓ Because I didn't understand the objective of this event as presented, I did some digging and found an article with some additional information.

Looks like this is a fundraising event to help support Christmas in the Park. From the article - "At this month's event new event, the real treat will be seeing the warehouse, where it's always beginning to look a lot like Christmas, no matter what the calendar says."

Apologies for posting this comment in the wrong thread previously.

↓ So they need a fundraiser to raise funds for their fundraiser?

↓ I'd love to start a movement to get rid of all of the carnival crap they've added to Xmas in the Park.

↓ I think this is a shared sentiment. The carnival and ice skating rink are commercial groups that are not affiliated with Christmas in the Park. While the actual Christmas event struggles to stay afloat these parasitic overnight operations take advantage of the many volunteer hours that go into Christmas in the Park each year without making any of their own contributions.
